Dear Receivership,

I certainly appreciate all you are doing in this manner. Am a little confused by the claims process – I feel I would deserve to have my website with all the work and material I have put in over the years but also feel like I deserve some compensation for all the wasted money invested. Are you saying I can only choose one option and if I am not granted any monetary return I won't get the website back at the end of the day either? I don't agree with that if that is what the claims process is claiming?

Thank you – [REDACTED] [REDACTED] (Website)
